

Life Expert Life Balance, more details, FAQ

1. Are there programs or complexes that aren't recommended to be used during the night.

Active protection, Restoring Energy, antiphlastic programs, restorative programs (recovery).

2. Some of the complexes run for 6-9 hours. Does such a long influence harm our organism?

If you strictly follow certain programming rules everything is fine. The principle of influence - low frequency - does not harm the body. Many people take the symptoms of intoxication as harmless. This is not a correct approach to the treatment of the low-frequency effect on the body. Intoxication means that you are working on the right problem.

3. Which programs can be used a few times a day and does it make sense?

You can repeat harmonizing programs for several times a day (1-3 times a day or at night). Because the body not always can tune in to the frequency of healthy organs and systems so fast. Programs of anti-parasitic effects are not recommended to be used more than 1 time per day (except for programs from the detoxification section), because when they are exposed to a resonance effect, toxins are released and there is no sense in accelerating them, as it can provoke a deterioration in well-being and the development of exacerbation of chronic diseases.

4. Why the results from the Life Expert tests which are made with 1 hour difference can be different?

To answer this question, the person should understand the essence of the method. For a better understanding, let us cite an example of a tonometer. When we measure the pressure in a calm state, it shows 120 \ 80 mm Hg. At the same time, if we rush to the 5th floor without an elevator or run a circle around the stadium and measure pressure, it will be higher. And this increased pressure will not mean that we are sick with something. Also, if a person has 36 C it does not mean that he is absolutely healthy. We understand that our pressure can change throughout the day and this is normal.

The tonometer is not a diagnostic device and does not give us a diagnosis. It shows the state of our body in total and why does pressure rises, we can only guess. There can be a thousand reasons for this.

Making a parallel: express testing for the skin resistance of biologically active points is like 47 tonometers, each one measures its organ or system. At the same time during the day, as you already understood, the picture can change. For example: when a person came from the street and makes a test, he has a rapid pulse; all the organs and systems are in a tonus. Then after some time, when he sits down in the room to make another test, he calms down, the pulse slows down. If the second test did not change at all, then it would be possible to say that the express test does not work.

5. If the person feels bad but the results of the test are good, what does it mean?

Not always diseases or viruses immediately have a significant effect on organs and systems. This can be reflected after a while.

6. How to understand possible changes in the organs and systems and what does the percentage near the parasites mean?

Only a doctor can make a final diagnosis after a series of clinical tests. Express testing makes assumptions. How it works. In the database on the server there are more than 23 000 diagrams for the express method of patients whose diagnoses have been confirmed by clinical tests. This database is constantly updated by the manufacturer.

When you send your measurement to decrypt, the server compares your indicators with the diagrams in the database and the system finds those results with which your data coincides within 6% of the deviation. For understanding, let's give an example: your chart coincided with two hundred patients in the database. The system selects these two hundred patients and takes them for 100%. Then it chooses their diagnoses and displays them to you in a report indicating the percentage – like how many cases of these two hundred patients was the cause of this or that disease. For example, if from two hundred patients in a database with the same chart as you have for 150 cause of this condition were Giardia, then in the report you will see Giardia - 75%. If you take 200 people as 100%, then 150 people - will be 75%.

This way we get a list of changes the probability of which is the highest at this test result.

And since the picture of the diagram changes periodically, we recommend doing several measurements (f 1 time per day for 3 days at least) and paying attention to repeated weights, this will be an objective picture on what to pay attention to.

7. How does Life Expert makes automatic complexes? If the results of the test sometimes are a bit different how will the complex be created and how will it treat?

As you know, there is a database of more than 23 000 measurements of patients with their clinically approved diseases on the server. The second database on the server contains the causative agents of these diseases (bacteria, viruses, parasites and fungi) with total of 785,000 therapeutic and harmonizing frequencies.

After going through 23,000 measurements and finding those which indicators coincide with yours, the program looks at the clinical diagnoses, finds the pathogens and collects a set of frequencies, which you download to your device. This system is already better than the ability of a doctor because the doctor cannot keep all the frequencies of a huge number of pathogens in his head.

At the same time, as you know, a huge advantage of bio resonance is that if you have a parasite and the complex as programmed it will start make a positive influence and treat you if you don't have it then the frequencies will just go through and no way affecting your body. This has a huge advantage over frequent medical practice, where the doctor is making the assumption about the diagnosis appoints one type of pills, and if after some time the pills do not work, appoints others.

Therefore, because the state of our body is constantly changing this is normal that complexes are slightly different from each other. Those results which are visible in the test each time get their own set of frequencies in the program. For those, which percentage in the body is small you take the frequencies as prevention.

8. How often do we need to make a new automatic complex?

We recommend making complexes twice a day. In the morning after having breakfast, when you are fully awake and going to work. Do a test of the current state of the body, download the complex and go to work. In the evening, after dinner, before going to bed, do the same, put the device next to the bed and go to sleep. This way you will notice that you have become much better and feel less sick. The twice a day complex for prevention is the optimal number of sessions. It is necessary to take into account that the complex is made up for the current state of the organism. This means that at the slightest infection, you immediately receive a teratherapeutic complex. Also, the more tests were done, the more individually-tuned the complex is.

9. Can multiple automatic complexes be downloaded into 1 device at a time?

No, this is not possible, because the complexes can contain a different number of frequencies and occupy a fairly large part of the memory, which is reserved for the manual complexes.

10. What do the colors and the size of the columns mean?

Low column height and blue color means hypo function (stage of chronic fatigue). A large height of the column of red color means hyper function (a stage close to inflammation). The mean values of the column are green - the organ or system is in the norm corridor.

Green means the norm corridor. Each system or body has its own corridor.

Blue and yellow are border values.

Figures below the bars show conditional column values from zero to one hundred. They are used to understand the trend when comparing diagrams to make it possible to understand in which direction there is a movement at small shifts of values.

11. How to turn off the Life Expert? First the cable or the device?

Any electrical appliance, whether it is a washing machine, TV, etc. Before you remove the cord from the outlet, it is advisable to turn off the device itself using the power switch.

12. What do the changes in the spine mean? How to understand them?

If there are changes in any part, the entire spine will suffer. Often this are: muscle spasms and the blocks
Therefore, here it is necessary to evaluate the whole spine column and by departments. The figures show the conditional values of the columns from zero to one hundred. They were made to understand the trend when comparing indicators.

13. My computer shows that the file is dangerous. Is there a problem with the program or my laptop?

The fact is that all antiviruses are built to block the launch and Internet traffic of those programs that are not in their database. Programs that are not yet known to the whole world are added to the antivirus database or for the money that each company must pay for the developer of this antivirus or when a certain number of users (each developer has their own number) added this program. There are hundreds of anti-virus programs, the developers of which we will need to pay an average of 5 - 15 thousand dollars. This will influence on the cost of our program and will have to increase product prices and decoding. So we go the second way and help users add to the exception that after some time will give the result.
